

Downtown Location Details

The Redeemer Counseling Center is part of the First Presbyterian Church building located at 106 E Church Street, Orlando, FL, 32801. The counseling office has its own entrance, on the southwest corner of the Rosalind Avenue and Church Street intersection.

Our staff will provide you with a QR code slip that will allow you to exit the parking garage free of charge (only valid for garage located at 300 Liberty Ave.) Please see second page for additional details. There is one entrance to this garage on Liberty Avenue and another entrance on Jackson Street. If you enter on the Liberty Avenue side, you can park on the 5th or 6th floors which are designated for First Presbyterian Church. If you enter on the Jackson street side, you can park on the first floor.

There are also metered parking spaces for $1 an hour in front of the office both on Church St. and Rosalind Ave. These spaces are free after 6pm. (We cannot validate metered parking or any of the other parking garages in the area.)

When you arrive at the Redeemer office, the doors will be locked due to security reasons, so your counselor will need to let you in. If they are still in a session, there is a covered portico to the left of the doors that you can wait under. Or, if you are in one of the metered spaces outside of the office, you can text your counselor to let them know you have arrived and wait in your car until they come out to let you in.

If you need a security escort to or from the parking garage, please have your counselor call the main security line. Clients can wait in the waiting area until security arrives.
